NETCOMM TO SUPPLY 200Mbps POWERLINE ADAPTERS TO FOXTEL AUSTRALIA

NetComm Limited and FOXTEL have signed a supply agreement to ensure that FOXTEL's subscriber base will be among the first to benefit from the November release of NetComm's NP204 Powerline Adapters with AC Pass-through.

The deal will give FOXTEL customers a cost effective method to connect their FOXTEL set-top-box to the Internet with no changes to their existing Internet network set up. By simply plugging NetComm's 200Mbps Powerline Adapters into any power point, users will easily be able to connect their FOXTEL iQ box to the Internet with no setup or configuration required. The NetComm Powerline Adapters will be available from November 15 by calling FOXTEL.

"With an upsurge of Internet devices being used in the home, it is important that Australians can experience the benefits of simple, fast and reliable online networking using their existing infrastructure," said NetComm General Manager Danny Morrison. "As a global leader in networking technology we released our first powerline product in December 2005 and have since created a more advanced range with data rates of up to 200Mbps. The very latest technology incorporates wireless N; and in our quest to remain at the forefront of technological innovation we continue to work on delivering even faster data transfer speeds," said Mr Morrison.
